

Miriam, your score: 3 out of 10

An occasional grey area

One or two signatures show up. You can enjoy keeping things casual, but tend to notice when it stops being enough.

The five signatures

Each signature contributes 0 to 2 points to your score. Every placement comes with an interpretation and a question to bring back to your own relationships.

Romance or commitment

Venus and Mars

Love behind the scenes

Saturn / Pluto in the 7th

What your chart shows

1. Romance house vs partnership house · O/2

5: 0 (empty) · 7: 1 (Pluto)

Your 7th house keeps pace with the 5th, or both are empty. Your chart does not put the early thrill ahead of partnership.

A question for you: When did something casual last become something serious for me, and what helped it happen?

2. Mutable Venus or a Neptune contact · I/2

Venus 5°16' Gemini · mutable · no close Neptune aspect

Your Venus is mutable (Gemini, Virgo, Sagittarius or Pisces) or in contact with Neptune. Traditionally, these describe love that needs room or falls for possibilities: what could be, rather than what is. Plenty of romance; clarity takes a little more work.

A question for you: Am I falling for this person, or for the version of them I have imagined?

3. Tension between Venus and Mars · O/2

Venus trine Mars (3.7°) · Mars 1°34' Aquarius

Venus and Mars are not in tension. Affection and desire tend to pull in the same direction.

A question for you: Does a calm connection feel boring to me, or safe?

What your chart shows

4. 7th-house ruler in the 12th house · 0/2

7: Scorpio · Mars ☐ 10 (house)

Your 7th-house ruler is outside the 12th house. A connection does not need to stay hidden to feel real to you.

A question for you: Is there something I avoid saying because I worry it will spoil the connection?

5. Saturn or Pluto in the 7th house · 2/2

Saturn ☐ 9 · Pluto ☐ 7 (house)

Saturn or Pluto sits in your 7th house. Seriousness, fear of loss or a wish to stay in control can weigh on partnership. Sometimes keeping things casual becomes a way to keep deeper feelings at a manageable distance.

A question for you: Am I keeping things open because I want to, or because being an “us” feels riskier?

Before you reply

If someone from your past has just messaged: read the question under “Saturn or Pluto in the 7th house” once more. Then say clearly what you want, and see what comes back.
